Pamper Your Pooch

April 27 is Little Pampered Dog Day. Yes it's true, there is a day set aside for people to pamper their pooch and the dogs here at Grace get plenty of pampering.

Humans have lived with lap-sized canines for years. Scientists have traced our history with small dogs to France, where our cave-dwelling ancestors may have used the dogs to keep them keep warm, assist with hunting and warn us when intruders are near. During the Renaissance, miniature poodles were used by nobility as hand warmers. The small dogs were put inside sleeves of shirts, becoming known as "sleeve dogs." Others were used to warm laps in damp castles or on chilly carriage rides. Today man's best friend rides in the front seat of the car with their head out the window. They watch television on a warm couch and have a variety of food and doggy snacks to choose from. Life for everyone has become better.

PB&J

Can you even imagine a world without peanut butter and jelly? April 2 is Peanut Butter and Jelly Day in honor of this ubiquitous sandwich staple. (con't on back)

This Month's Mystery Man

Do you recognize the service man in this month's spotlight picture? Here are some clues. He was born in San Bernardino California. He joined the Air Force in 1942 and went to Memphis TN for training. In the service he worked as an Air Craft Refueling officer, and serviced in Guam, Saipan and other Mariana Islands. He married Marie and has two children, a son and daughter. He grew up on Catalina Island, loves to be near the ocean and enjoys playing tennis. He and a buddy could play tennis for a few hours at night by putting a quarter in the light machine.
