A Penny For Your Thought

On August 2, 1909, the very first Lincoln cents were put into circulation by the U.S. Mint. Before 1909, a president's visage had never appeared on a coin. In January of 1909, the Mint approached artist Victor David Brenner to design a coin depicting President Abraham Lincoln to commemorate the centennial anniversary of Lincoln's birth. Two years earlier, Brenner had completed a plaque of Lincoln in profile for the Gorham Manufacturing Company; it was this plaque that became the design for the Lincoln cent, with Brenner imprinting his initials VDB on the reverse. When the cent was released, Treasury facilities were mobbed by those seeking the new pennies. Just one week after the minting, production of the pennies was halted to remove the VDB initials on the reverse, making the original VDB pennies invaluable collector items.

The First "Marinette"

When the first recruiting station for female Marines opened up in Washington, D.C., on August 2, 1918, Opha May Johnson was the first in line. The very next day, after passing her physical examination, she was officially sworn into the Marine Corps. Why Johnson joined and how she felt as the first female Marine are lost to history, for Johnson did not keep any personal records of the experience. However, records of her 14 years of service in the Interstate Commerce Department where she worked as Clerk to the Quartermaster General show her to be whip-smart. As such, she was likely invited to enlist. She was the first of 300 women who took over office jobs at Marine Corps headquarters so that men could serve overseas during World War I. They were first nicknamed the "Marinettes," but soon were considered so vital that all pretenses were dropped and they were simply Marines.

Farfalle

Farfalle pasta is one of the oldest pasta shapes. It originated during the 16th century and its name derived from the Italian word for butterfly. It was invented by housewives wanting to use up extra pasta dough left over from making filled cappelletti pasta. When the filling ran out, the women used up the remaining scrapes by making farfalle. This habit became so popular that they would actually make extra dough so that there would be plenty leftover to make farfalle! We all know these scraps of Pasta as Bowtie Pasta. And now you know

This Newsletter Has Some Safety Features

Fire Safety

When the fire alarm goes off please stay in your room with the door closed and be prepared to evacuate if need be. Also It is very important that electrical outlets are not overloaded. It is a state regulation that there be only one electrical cord for one outlet. If there are not enough outlets in your room please purchase, or have your family purchase A power surge. We want everyone to be safe.

Valuables

Please keep all valuable in your locked drawer. For example: jewelry, money, your favorite chocolate. Do not keep large amounts of cash. If your locked drawer is not working please let one of the office staff know so it can be logged in the maintenance book and fixed as soon as possible.

Registering To Vote & Your Voting Rights

On Wednesday August 21st at 3:00 P.M.

Phone Scammers

Please be aware of scammers who are out to get your money. They will tell you they're from the IRS, or your bank, or your credit card company. It could be someone saying they are your favorite grandchild and they need money for school books. Whatever the story is do not believe them. Hang Up. Do not give them any information or credit card number. Just Hang Up!
